A little history ...

BACA was founded by Lewis Calder in a garage in Northampton, England. The company traded with guaranteed disease-free cattle, hence the name Brucellosis Accredited Cattle Agency = BACA.

BACA SAFETY & WORKWEAR has purchased new buildings in Northampton with offices and huge warehouses.

Lewis Calder established DUTCH DIRECT, which imported quality cattle from Holland, Denmark and Germany.

Jim Calder, Elder son of Lewis Calder, traveled to Denmark with his family to establish BACA in Denmark. It became BACA WORKING DIRECT and started in his garage in Lyngby.

BACA ARBEJDSTØJ has purchased new buildings in Brøndby with offices and large warehouses.

The Danish headquarters of BACA moved into a new 4100 m² office, while completing a complete modernisation of its warehouse infrastructure and IT infrastructure.

All of this is part of the strategy to build delivery capacity and facilitate continued growth at both national and European level.

The BENELUX department established in the Netherlands. The BACA group had 75 employees and started to deliver to large groups with branches across Europe.

BACA SERVICE GUARANTEE

Where the service begins and ends with you

A brand is only as strong as its values, and it is the commitment to these values that drives success.

As a well established family-owned brand founded in Northampton over 30 years ago, our service guarantee has allowed us to grow our brand and operations.

At the time of publication, we have 95 staff with four offices in Europe dedicated to delivering you our exclusive Scandinavian collection of workwear, VELTUFF®.

Feedback from our customers tells us that they choose BACA over other workwear suppliers - not just because of our superior quality products, efficient ordering systems or fast delivery – but because of the invaluable expert service and advice from our sales and customer care teams.

The minute you contact BACA, we commit to ensuring you enjoy the quality service and aftercare support you deserve, whether you log on or pick up the phone.

Because it all starts and ends with you.

freedom of movement

Details that make your job easier ...

Solid button, hidden in the waist, minimizes wear on the outer fabrics and keeps the trousers in place under extreme movements.

Adjustable elastic straps in the hood of the selected models, offer comfort and freedom of movement while keeping clothes tight and warm.

The new smartphone pocket with headphone output allows you to stay connected without worrying about the security of your smartphone.

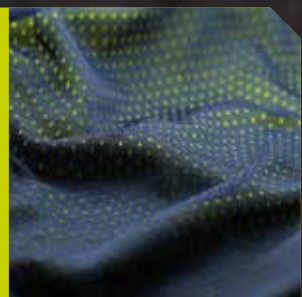

Fur lining and thermo breathable material that adapts to the temperature of the person, increases comfort in cold weather.

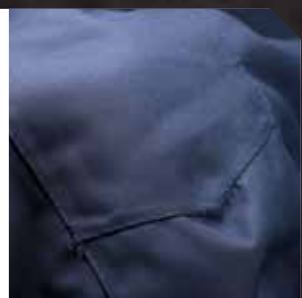

The double rubber grip on the inside of the waist keeps the sweater or t-shirt in place so they do not ride up when you bend down.

Beautiful, breathable mesh on selected models guarantees that the jacket is easy to put on and comfortable, whether it is hot or cold outside.

Form-shaped shoulders with extra space provide great freedom of movement without tightening the jacket.

The new series of MULTIfunction WORK TROUSERS

The MULTIfunction series was developed for versatile use in the trades and in construction. These occupations require particularly sturdy clothing as heavy wear is commonplace.

The models of the MULTIfunction series are made of sturdy textiles, triple-stitched and equipped with matching work bags, cell phone pocket, tool loops, shape-sewn knee bag pockets and many more features.

Note: All trouser models are built so that you can easily extend them from 82 to 86 or 90 cm.

WORKING COMFORT

Integrated elastic bands in the waistband keep the trousers in place. Stooping is fixed while held up by a loop on the back.

VISIBILITY

Back and side pockets and certain seams are provided with reflective edges for you to see in the dark.

WEAR

For all models we use the very best and most powerful zippers in the world - by YKK®.

The quality buttons are incorporated into the waistband so they do not scuff the top

GLOVES

Information

Protective gloves can be divided into three categories depending on type and which risk or danger the gloves should protect against. The categories are determined by EU Directive 89/686 EEC, concerning safety requirements for Personal Protective Equipment (PPE).

Category 1: Gloves of simple design, for minimal risks only. Example of gloves in this category are household gloves used for cleaning and for protection against warm objects or temperatures not exceeding +50°C. Additional gloves in this category can include light-duty gardening gloves or other work where the risk of injury is minimal.

Category 2: Intermediate gloves, for intermediate risks. Gloves are placed in this category when the risk is not classified as minimal or irreversible. The gloves must be subjected to independent testing and certification by a Notified Body. A CE marking determines its protective capacities. In this category you will find general handling gloves requiring good puncture and abrasion performance according to EN388.

Category 3: Gloves of complex design, for irreversible or mortal risks. Gloves in this category are designed to protect against the highest levels of risk e.g. highly corrosive acids. Gloves in this category must also be independently tested and certified by a Notified Body (approved by the EU commission).

EN420 standard

This standard defines the general requirements for protective gloves in terms of construction, fit for purpose, safety, etc

- Gloves themselves should not impose a risk or cause injury.
- The pH of the gloves should be as close as possible to neutral.
- Leather gloves should have a pH value between 3.5 – 9.5.
- The highest permitted value for chromium is 3 mg/kg (chrome VI).
- Gloves should specify details of any substance used which is known to cause allergies
- Sizes are provided to an agreed common European hand size.
